Elin Stanley, of Springville, was in town yesterday.

Harry Silver has gone to Springville on a business trip.

John Swinburne came in town from his cattle ranch, on Tuesday.

Walter Darling received a large consignment of freight this week.

The debt of Pima county amounts to the enormous sum of $463,000.

Ye editor is on the line of the Atlantic & Pacific railroad on a business trip.

The Prescott Courier claims to be the oldest paper in that section of Arizona.

There is a Mexican confined in our county jail on a charge of horse stealing.

Mr. Ike Clanton, of Springville, was in the city for several days the past week.

Ike Clanton, a stockman from Springerville, stopped over Sunday at the county seat.

Owing to heavy rains the Little Colorado river has been on a boom for several days past.

Quite a number of the citizens of St. Johns contemplate taking a trip to Albuquerque during fair week.

A. Pechner who has been in Albuquerque on business connected with his establishment for several days past, returned yesterday.

Mr. Charley Kinnear, who dispenses liquid refreshments to the thirsty denizens of Springerville, spent Sunday at the county seat, a guest of Sol. Barth, Esq.

The mail service on the Atlantic & Pacific road has been extended to Mojave, making the total length of the route 817 miles, Albuquerque being the eastern terminus.

Joe Elliott, of Holbrook, came in town on yesterday's mail coach. Mr. Elliott is foreman for W. F. Benson, whose stock ranch is near Hardy station, in this county.

The conviction of Udall for perjury gives entire satisfaction to the better class of Mormons in this stake of Zion. The Reverend Mr. Milner may deny this, but when he does he simply utters a lie to cloak himself.

An examination of teachers for the public schools of Apache county will be held at St. Johns on Monday and Tuesday, September 7, and 8th. The board of examiners publish a notice setting forth all the requirements, which will be found in this issue of THE HERALD.

Frank Lewis, the confectioner, has placed upon the road, between here and Navajo, a private express conveyance to supply his establishment with fresh California fruits. Mr. Lewis' goods being all of a perishable nature, makes this movement necessary in order that he may receive them in the least possible time between Los Angeles and this city.

The annual snake dance of the Moqui Indians excited more than ordinary interest this year. Visitors were attracted from all parts of the country. Mr. W. W. Wall, mail contractor, took out a large party from Navajo on Saturday the 15th to witness the ceremonies. The excursionists consisted of the Misses Lynch, of Navajo; Miss Wall, Master Wall and the Misses McCormick, of St. Johns and Mr. Lew Lynch, of Navajo.

W. W. Wall, the pioneer stage man of Apache county, will commence on the first of September to run a daily line of hacks between Navajo and this city. Mr. Wall will also be prepared to run extra passenger wagons whenever travel demands it. All who visit St. Johns in attendance at the district court will find transportation at Navajo to convey them to the county seat without delay. The fare over this popular route from the railroad to St. Johns has been reduced

HOLBROOK.

Holbrook, in this county, notwithstanding the terrible pressure of universal stagnation of business in the great southwest, has succeeded in going straight ahead to the full measure of success in everything undertaken by her energetic people. There is not upon the line of the Atlantic & Pacific railway a town or settlement of greater promise.

The work on the great dam that will fill the proposed irrigating canal, that is staked out all along the foot-hills north of the river, is well under way, and the coming season will present to view finely cultivated fields where the sage brush and chaparral have flourished for ages.

The railway company's improvements are of the most substantial character, and nothing has been neglected that could add to the convenience and comfort of passengers, or for the convenience in handling freight.

The merchants of the town are awake to the demands of the public, hence the stocks are as complete as might be expected in a town ten times the size of this young giant. The firm of Stivers & Burbage are dealers in general merchandise; they have their floors filled with first class goods; they succeeded Nathan Barth, at the old stand along side the railroad track.

A. & B. Schuster, who now occupy the store formerly known as F. A. Breed & Co., carry an immense stock of general merchandise. They have a large trade, and will grow rich during the coming prosperous days for Arizona.

Field & Harvey are in the same line; their success is manifested by the crowds that daily are found at their sales room.

C. Lindinburger provides the town with bread and cakes; he keeps a large stock of eatables, and is mainly patronized by the housekeepers, and passengers who require to replenish their lunch baskets. Mr. Lindinburger is an untiring laborer, and is a public benefactor in his care for his many customers.

Three magnificent saloons are run under the direction of their owners—Scorsen, Perkins, and Peterson.

Two good hotels are also run here, the Apache and the Holbrook house.

Here, too, is the headquarters of the government agent for the military post at Camp Apache. From this point are hundreds of tons of supplies forwarded to its destination. Thrift is everywhere seen in commerce, and the mechanic need never know an idle day. Uncle Sam's anvil gives a pleasant sound to the ear. Several new residences are being erected, and several new wives will occupy them in the near future. Howard Perkins' new building will be an ornament to the town.

Taking in the whole situation, one can see that Holbrook's future is as promising as her present is pleasant and profitable, and the county seat greets her flourishing sister of the railroad with a thousand congratulations.

"HERALD-MORMONS."

John Norton, N. Marble, A. N. Holden and John Marble, four saints of the Mormon church, now languish in the county jail, having been convicted of petty larceny and sentenced to five days imprisonment and to pay a fine of twenty-five dollars each, or in case of a failure to pay the fine then to be imprisoned for fifteen days. They were found guilty of stealing several tons of hay from John Westbrook, who lives at Amity, a small town about three miles from Springerville, and were tried before Juan Armijo, Justice of the Peace, of Tule. We are glad to see that the evil doers in Apache county are being brought to justice, and it is to be hoped that the sheriff will not let them remain idle at an expense to the county, but put them to work on the streets and roads. These are the kind of people Bishop Milner calls HERALD-MORMONS.

Schools! Schools!

The regular examination of teachers for Apache county will be held at St. Johns on Monday and Tuesday, September 7th and 8th. Applicants for certificates must appear on the first day of said examination.

The Board of Examiners, on Wednesday following, will employ teachers for the county for the present school year, and all trustees, teachers and others interested, are requested to make their wishes known before that day.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction will be present, and will supervise the examination and the employment of the teachers. E. C. BUNCH, C. L. GUTTERSON, T. S. BUNCH, Board of Examiners.

"In the name of all that is good, we ask when will crime in Apache county get a check at the hands of the law?"—Orion Era, August 12, 1885.

It is being checked now, Bishop. With Udall in the District House of Correction for three years, and four of the saints now in the county jail, it looks as if a good beginning had been made. Bring back Romney, Smith, Fish, and

A RIGHTEOUS VERDICT.

Correspondence to Prescott Courier.]

The conviction of Udall for perjury in falsely swearing that the locator of a homestead claim in Apache county had resided continuously on the property, when in fact he had been continuously absent, should be noted far and wide throughout the Territory. The homestead act is essentially a poor man's law, passed for the beneficent purpose of enabling the poorest of our citizens to provide his family with a home and a heritage, and to be the peer of the richest in education and independence. Our Territory has not an abundance of available agricultural land. Every schemer and speculator who takes up the soil by a pretended compliance with the provisions of the act, for any other purpose than that of making his home on his location, is a swindler and a robber, preying on the class that can least afford to be despoiled. That millions of good acres have been so filched from the public domain and resold to honest workers at a high price is too well-known to admit of denial. This first effort to put a stop to it in this section entitles our officers to the best thanks of the community. Udall and his principal, Romney, are but two of a large number whom we trust will be brought to justice. In any event the fate of Udall should be a timely warning to speculative non-settlers.

THE FAIR.

And now all Albuquerque is alive to, and every effort quickened for, producing the greatest show on earth. The annual fair will this season be worthy of the consideration of every exhibitor; every lover of manufactures and of art; of every one interested in the progress, wealth and fame of New Mexico.

A premium list of $10,000.00. Think of it, ye who may be alive and able to reach Albuquerque on the 29th day of September, 1885; ye who have horses to speed or minnows to show; ye thorough-bred cattle to exhibit, beef cattle to sell or cows for the dairy; horses for labor or mules to kick; jacks to exhibit the various stages of melancholia, or burros for sweepstakes; ye who have affinity for division D, owned and occupied by Guterres and Daggs, wool pullers and mutton raisers for the million, just opposite the Berkshire hog pens in class 13 and 14, and think of it all chicken hearted men and "big geese," of the standard variety, also all "little ducks" that here is your opportunity for a raise of reputation and fortune. Sight seers and admirers of the feathered tribe don't fail to beam upon division F, and especially on class 15.

Go to the fair, all ye who would enjoy the luscious pear and the juicy apple, the distracting peach and sentimental grape. All Arizonians and New Mexicans should go to the fair; all trades and occupations should contribute toward its interest. Bring out your wheat, corn, rye, broom-corn and alfalfa; fetch along babies, pug-dogs and mocking-birds, anything to fill up, most anything will be enjoyable by Q. D. (quill-driver) Newcomb and Louis Huning.

And what more shall we say? time would fail us to tell of the carrots, beets, rum and onions, parsnips, cauliflower and a half a dozen heads of green peas, who through the superintendency of Capt. Vose and the assistance of Mrs. L. B. Prince, will stop the mouths of the yelping hash-house feeder, quench the violence of the gin and milk fiend, and will put to flight the army of the growers.

The gem of the fair will be the class 20, under the guidance of those embryo dudes Manzaneros and Torlina. They don't propose to have on their lists any thing over 14—clever chaps they—won't they be daisies on the award. Our claims, like those of Albright's, were not considered when the appointments in division K were made. With classes 21, 22 and 23 the fair is set going. It embraces the family group, in oil,—sardines, New Mexican landscape, in oil,—Bibikov; largest collection of pen work—Wratten; sample card making—Faro; house plants—children under twelve in Latin and Greek; home products—native wine, discord; kitchen ornaments—filigree jewelry with most beautifully wrought under garments, wash-tubs with a general display of needle-work, fancy exhibits and embroidery, not less than six ico press galoots is expected to take place under the "grand stand" on the third day of the fair, when Tom Hughes and Chas. O'Connor Roberts will undo the Damon and Pytheas act they did with tremendous success three years ago before an audience composed of "Ecce Montezuma," Howard Mitchell and the fat editor of the St. Johns HERALD, the only genuine, original, anti-Brigham Young sheet in Arizona. The triennial meeting of this quartette, at their old quarters, being properly advertised and illustrated, would have a "lager" influence in determining the success of satisfactory financial issues of the enterprise, than would the adoption of any other scheme known to the fraternity. It is therefore enthusiastically submitted for consideration.

Two of the leading papers of Prescott, the Journal and the Miner, have consolidated and hereafter will be known as the Journal-Miner. J. C. Martin, who by the way is solid on the Mormon question, has charge of the editorial department of the consolidated paper and we predict for it an era of prosperity.

A train consisting of thirteen cars of tea and two cars of silk, passed over the Atlantic & Pacific road one day last week. It was bound for New York, and running on twenty miles an hour time.

Several Navajo Indians were in town this week selling horses.
